Class Description

A downed firefighter is every department's worst nightmare. One thing history has taught us is that Rapid Intervention is not rapid, having crews battle trained to accomplish this mission can be the difference between a close call and tragedy. Rapid Intervention demands that your crews be proficient in every aspect of firefighting, from thermal imager use, to proficient truck work, to being able to think and improvise under pressure. This class will rotate crews through several skill stations and culminate with a real time scenario at the end to test your crews metal.
